HOSA STUDENTS CELEBRATE HOSA WEEK

MIDDLETON HIGH SCHOOL HOSA

As a HOSA week kickoff, on October 31, 2008, MHS HOSA sponsored a blood drive with Lifeline Blood Services. This blood drive gave many students an opportunity to recognize a very special junior high teacher, Mrs. Tammy Pruessner, who has been diagnosed with cancer. Blood donors gave in honor of Mrs. Pruessner. Financial contributions have also been received from students and faculty members to help defray her expenses during this time.

Dr. Donald Hopper recognized Elizabeth Hensley and Brad Peterson for on the scene CPR, which saved his life. Dr. Hopper shared his experience with the HOSA class.

On Monday, November 3, 2008, MHS HOSA advisor, Carla Doyle, with the assistance of HOSA members, taught Heartsaver CPR courses to all interested students. Over 300 students were trained in Adult and Child CPR.

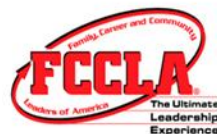

Even though we only recognized a couple of health care providers in the community, MHS HOSA wants to thank the ambulance department employees, health care clinic employees, Bolivar General Hospital, and all of the other health care providers and first responders within our community.

Air Evac landed on the football field to help celebrate this event. Air Evac employees told HOSA students about their jobs, training and requirements concerning work with Air Evac. Students were very attentive and enjoyed hearing from these health care providers.

All in all, HOSA week was a great success at MHS. We are thankful for all who participated and took time to be present for this week.

Tonya Willis and daughter talk to HOSA class about a near death drowning experience of her daughter, Maddy. Becky Hodge walked her through CPR, which ultimately saved Maddy's life.

Approximately 15 students attended the initiation ceremony.

MIDDLETON HIGH SCHOOL CARPENTRY 2

Middleton High School Carpentry 2 class has worked hard this month. The class framed, formed, and poured 4 yards of concrete. The first project was forming and pouring the base for our new Tiger Mascot. Second project is pouring a floor for Mr. Rinehart's new storage area. Finally, students are working hard to complete our classroom shop area. Our new football field house is still under construction.
