BCHS HOSA Happenings

This fall has been a busy time for BCCHS' HOSA members. There have been 43 HOSA members, meetings, and year-place in October. HOSA had a cookie sold almost $6000

Members are currently working on their Fall Service Project- they chose to do service at our school, and will be hosting a Halloween party for the CDC students on October 31st. They are also busy planning National HOSA Week, which is November 2-8. The officers have ordered gifts and club shirts for the week, ordered lunch for all HOSA members on Wednesday the 5th, and the entire group will be going on a field trip to Jackson Madison County General Hospital on Friday the 7th. Following National HOSA Week, the group will be sponsoring the bi-annual Blood Drive, to be held on November 21st. Our clinical students are busy preparing for their clinical rotations and HOSA competitions, which will be held in January at UT Martin.

Also in October, Officer elections, club book pictures took dough fundraiser, and worth! HOSA mem-

BOLIVAR CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL COSMETOLOGY NEWS

Cosmetology students have been busy learning to shampoo, give pedicures and manicures. Haircuts are next.

We welcomed a rep from Backscratcher Nails for 2 days. Everyone enjoyed the clinic with hands on experience in gel nails, glass glaze and glitters for Christmas.

We have focused on our club SkillsUSA and are already preparing for contest in March of 09.

Advisory members are in place and we have had one meeting. Parent teacher conference went very well with many parents wanting to see how and what their students are doing in cosmetology.

We are looking forward to selling fruit in November and a field trip very soon.

CTE Director's Corner

Fall is upon us and that extra hour of sleep will be welcomed on November 2nd. I hope everyone has about finished your notebook for the monitors' visit on November 17th. If you have questions or concerns, please let me know. I appreciate your dedication to our students and for making a positive difference in their lives.

MHS HOSA Students Teach Tiger Cubs

About Nutrition

On Thursday, October 23, 2008, MHS HOSA students attended the Tiger Cub meeting at the Boy Scout Hut in Middleton. These students taught the cubs about the food pyramid and the basic elements of nutrition. They also played a game with the boys which taught them which foods go into each food group. The boys were very excited about having young people working with them, and the HOSA students also provided snacks for them following this activity.

The HOSA students who taught were Jackie Bomar, Erin Bomar, Shelby Jackson, and Savannah Hines. These students are preparing for the Health Education competition which is in January 2009. For this competition, they will be developing a lesson plan and teaching a health care topic to a certain group of people. They have decided that they would like to teach elementary age students, and they are hoping that this will help them prepare for competition and also help the community.

Due to the rise in obesity and bad eating habits in children, these students were very excited about teaching this group of cubs. These students have voiced a concern for this issue in children and are very excited about giving more instruction to elementary age students in the future. All of these HOSA students are interested in seeking a future in health care and hope that this type of work will help prepare them for the future.

According to the HOSA instructor, MHS has a very enthusiastic group of HOSA students this year, and they are very excited about working within the community. Many students also worked the sight mobile for the Lion's Club at the Fur Fin & Feather Festival this year. They are very eager to volunteer their services within the
